GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1909

TEN CENTS A WEEK

PALATKA WON SECOND GAME OF THE SERIES

Large Crowd of Gainesville People Visited the Gem City by Special Train to Witness the Game.

A large crowd witnessed the contest between Palatka and the Oak Halls in the Gem City Thursday afternoon when the disfigured lads that have put up such a strong representation for Gainesville during the past ten days went down in defeat—to rise again, however, for we will have the same whack at the entire lay-out on future days and it may then be them that have the broken bones to play.

The entire road trip has been one of hard luck, for no matter how well they played, some obstacle was in the way of getting runs.

With the boys tired out from their travels and hard playing, sickness, disfigurements and other ailments, they put up a good game, and we have no censure for them, but on the other hand have a cheering word and a hearty grip, for we know that such doses cannot be kept up, and it does make some difference as to whose yard you are in."

The first two innings started off well and all began to think that it would be another real close game, but the third was what "spoiled thing" for here the umpire, Mr. Rowley, who was doing the stunts for the base-running, called a foul ball, and at the time Gainesville had two men on bases and the score tied. He stuck to his first decision and after this there didn't seem to be any ginger whatever put up by the locals.

The effort of Spottswood, who had sustained a sprained ankle and could scarcely get about, was all that could be desired, but the men back of him were in the same deplorable condition—"bunged up" and tired out, and they showed plainly that the "bear" had 'em.

Following is the score by innings:

r. h. e.
Oak Halls...	0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 5 5
Palatka	0 0 2 1 1 0 0 0 0 4 9 2
Strike-outs—Walker and Dillon 9.
Spottswood 8.

First on balls—Spottswood 2, Walker 1.

Wild pitches—Walker 1, Dillon 1, Spottswood 2.

Two-base hits—Denton, Miller and Dillon.

Passed balls—Bullock 3, Merritt 1.

Umpires—Hutchinson and Rowley.

The crowd that went over to meet the Oak Halls was fully as large as the Palatka aggregation at the game up until after the fourth inning, when it seemed that the news must have strengthened their courage, for they came in great bunches. The number that was on the train was estimated at about 250, but what they lacked in numbers was made up in strength, for it was a noble crowd of "rooters."

NOTES.

"Bing, Bingo, Bang—One Run."

Home again with two out of eight and one tie.

Some oil needed to get things running smooth again.

There was "mopping up" done, but it was on the other side.

Nervy set—that Gainesville crowd—their money went begging in the fourth.

"Pat" has been "all in" since his early morning swim. Ask him what ever he contracted.

The hard-luck streak is attributed to some "joner"—the boys couldn't "luck out" at anything.

Gainesville "rooters" still have their nerve—Palatka sports cannot boast of the victory so very much.

"We'll Show 'Em the Way" yet, for they have two return games here at an early date—both will be taken.

Four days' rest before the big event with Ocala, so use plenty of grease and rubbing, for they have had some rest.

The fans and fanabellies of Gainesville were much in evidence and never ceased their "rooting," even after the game.

The boys are keen for another visit to Orlando and hope they are victors for the cup being offered over that way against Sanford.

Walker—the Scared Ox—was taken from the game in the fourth when the boys got "onto" him and were hammering—two two-baggers and one single—and his reputation was about to be shattered. He robbed the boys of some beauties in deep center, however.

Air Dome Is Popular.

Notwithstanding that quite a percentage of the citizens of Gainesville were absent from the city last night, a fairly large crowd was present at the new Air Dome Theatre. Manager Wellington has struck a popular chord by placing this exhibition under the skies, where the people can be comfortable.

CAME NEAR DROWNING IN THE ST. JOHNS RIVER

Overloaded Small Launch Capsizes, Throwing Occupants Into River---Rescued in Nick of Time.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 15.—

Overloaded with a supply of provisions and groceries for Nichols & Co., of Mandarin, a naptha launch capsized in the "heavy sea" on the St. Johns river south of the Florida East Coast draw bridge shortly after 4 o'clock. Medland, V. Ferris, and J. J. Ferris and his 12-year-old son, who were aboard, were thrown into the river.

Buffeted about by the waves, which were running high at that point, in over forty feet of water, the man and boy, who chanced to be expert swimmers, narrowly escaped drowning, while nearly all of the provisions—some two tons of stock—were lost.

Only a tool chest belonging to Ferris was picked up from the river after Ferris and his son had been rescued.

The half-drowned man and boy were pulled from the water by Maurice Rogero and Harry Treadwell, of South Jacksonville, who had gone to a point near the bridge to fish. Owing to the rough water they were unable to start fishing, and were returning to their homes when they saw the boat capsize and pulled lustily at the oars of the little rowboat until they reached the almost exhausted man and boy. With difficulty Ferris and his son were pulled into the boat, and the four started after the fast disappearing freight.

The naptha launch, which had recently been purchased by Ferris to be used as a freight boat between points on the river at a cost of $250, sank to the bottom, but may likely be raised. The tool chest, which floated, was recovered off the Armour Company's dock, and it was here that the man and boy were landed. They went on to their home near Mandarin, yesterday morning.

Persia Is in Throes of a Great Bloody Conflict

TEHERAN, July 15.—Fighting in the streets of Teheran that has been going on more or less continuously since the Nationalist forces made their entry into the capitol yesterday, became much more serious at midnight last night when the Persian Cossacks opened a heavy artillery fire on the Nationalists, who at that hour attempted to rush the Cossacks' position from the North and East.

The Nationalists succeeded in occupying a garden close to the house of Col. Liakhoff, military commander of Teheran, where they are now being shelled by the Cossacks.

Rifle and artillery fire has been practically continuous since Tuesday morning. The soldiers of the Shah from the Sultanabad have approached to within three miles of the city, and are now shelling Bakaristan, a quarter of the city where the Parliament building is situated.

It was reported yesterday morning that the Shah's troops are endeavoring to enter the city by one of the northern gates.

Sipahdar and Sadarassad, Nationalist leaders, have just transmitted the following message to the British and Russian diplomatic representatives: "In spite of the fact that Russian flag is flying over the house of Coliakhoff, the National forces are being fired on by Persian cossacks stationed under the roof of this house."

Married Man Elopés With Spouses Three Other Men

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., July 15.—

Geo. Burgess has destroyed all records in the North State by having a wife at home while escorting the wives of three other men to parts unknown.

The strangely infatuated women who fell in with the modern blue-beard are Mrs. Annie Farrell, aged 17, wife of Cleveland Farrell; Mrs. Sophie Morgan, wife of David Morgan, a well-known grocer, and Mrs. William Taylor, a relative of Burgess.

Mrs. Taylor, it is said, even tried to leave her baby in the care of friends in order to follow in the wake of the "pied piper."

The quartet left town together last week, the women paying their own fares.

Mrs. Burgess has just made public the fact of her husband's wholesale elopements, but does not appear to grieve so much over her recreant spouse as she does over the fact that he absconded with the family savings amounting to about $100.

Statesman and Lawyer Victim Stroke Paralysis

NORFOLK, Va., July 15.—John

Goode, aged 80 years, a Virginian, statesman, lawyer and soldier, died at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday, following a stroke of paralysis, which he suffered several weeks ago while on a visit to his children in this city.

With him at the end was his youngest son, James U. Goode. His daughter, Mrs. W. T. Brooke, who was out of the city, arrived at noon, and John B. Goode, an older son in New York, arrived later. Arrangements for the funeral and burial have not yet been completed.

Florida Boy Has Fortune Awaiting Him in Texas

Where's Jack Manning?

This is a question being asked in Atlanta, Florida and Texas. For this young man, who eleven years ago went to Atlanta from Gainesville, Jackson county, Florida, a penniless and helpless orphan boy, accompanying an ill and enfeebled mother, has fallen heir to a fortune out in Lufkin, Texas.

All efforts to locate Jack have failed and his relatives, in a final desperate try, have written Mayor Maddox, of Atlanta, soliciting his aid. The following letter from the young man's step-grandmother, tells the story:

Kennesaw, Fla., July 10, 1909.
City Mayor:

About ten or eleven years ago one Mrs. Carrie Bell Manning, the widow of Dr. J. R. Manning, then reduced in circumstances, health-wrecked, left here with her little son, Jack, to try treatment in a hospital in Atlanta.

After a time, we could hear nothing from Mrs. Manning nor Jack. I presume she died.

I've been written to to give the whereabouts of Jack, as there is considerable property at and near Lufkin, Tex., for Jack, which he will inherit from his grandmother's, the Dr. Manning's estate.

I trust that you will in kindness to the orphan boy, if he is where you can find him, tell him. Let me hear from you. This is from Jack's step-grandmother.

EAST COAST RAILWAY
ASKS FOR INJUNCTION
AGAINST FLORIDA RAILROAD
COMMISSIONERS.

Claims the Commission Seeks to Force
the Company to Do Things
Which Are Unreasonable.

Not very long ago the State Railroad Commission issued certain orders to the officials of the Florida East Coast railway compelling that road to do certain things which the railroad considers unjust and unreasonable. In order to get at the matter legally the railroad has filed a bill at Miami asking for an injunction and relief and to declare unjust and unreasonable these orders of the commission. Major Alex St. Clair-Abrams acting for the corporation. According to The Miami Metropolis the bill is signed by J. P. Beckwith, vice-president of the railroad company, and is directed to R. Hudson R. Burr, Royal C. Dunn and Newton A. Blitch, members of the Florida Railroad Commission, Augustus G. Hartridge, J. M. Rivers, and John C. Jones, State's attorneys for the Fourth, Eighth and Seventh judicial circuits of Florida.

The instrument seeks to restrain the defendants from enforcing their various recent orders, relative to the placing of a permanent agent of the company at White City, the building of combination stations for freight and passengers at Naranja and Viking, and building additional side-tracks and imposing certain fines.

At the outset, the bill declares that the members of the commission have had no practical experience or knowledge of the construction, operation or management of railroads, placing a foundation for the complaints following in the bill.

A rehearsal is made of the indebtedness of the Florida East Coast Railway Company, citing the $12,000,000 of bonds bearing 4½ per cent interest, secured by the first mortgage on the road from Jacksonville to Key West, and its branches, and the $25,000,000 second mortgage to secure payment of the income bonds in a like sum.

It is averred in the bill that it would cost $40,000,000 to rebuild the road. It gives the fixed charges of the road, annually, as follows: $540,000 on account of the first mortgage bonds, $135,000 taxes, and $140,000 for insurance, additional betterments, unforeseen and extraordinary expenses. Five per cent per annum is paid for money advanced for the construction of the Key West extension.

It is claimed in the bill that the officials of the company are not paid larger salaries than their positions command, and that the road is operated and maintained in an economical manner. The petitioner goes on to say that the road has 581.7 miles of roadway at present, and will have 626.7 miles when the extension to Key West is completed, and that there is an average of but fifty persons to the mile along the entire roadway.

The declaration is made that at the present rate for charges on freight and passenger transportation, the road does not and will not earn for years, its fixed charges, and a reasonable interest on the income bonds. The business of the road increases slowly, the bill recites, and the persistent cutting down of rates ordered by the railroad commission and the increased expenses imposed by the commission has compelled the company to borrow money to meet the fixed charges.

The petition for relief further characterizes as unreasonable and unjust the requirements of the Railroad Commission, wherein the road is required to construct permanent passenger and freight buildings within two or three miles of each other, that it is not unreasonable and unjust for the Florida East Coast railway to expect from shippers and receivers of freight and from passengers that they shall travel over public roads a reasonable distance to regular stations to receive and deliver freight and take passengers.

The bill further declares that flag stations have been established to save growers of perishables the necessity of making long hauls, in order that their fruits and vegetables may be shipped promptly, and that the company has made side-tracks and spurs at short distances from each other wherever the acreage of fruit and vegetables warranted such construction, and that during the shipping season, the company provides cars that can be speedily loaded, and provides trains to take up the freight.

The bill goes on to say that the company is threatened with insolvency if certain orders of the commission are enforced, and gives out the statement that there has existed an annual deficit for a number of years, submitting the report of the comptroller of the road, showing the deficit for the years 1906, 1907 and 1908, which is given as follows:

1906	$138,074.11
1907	225,406.68
1908	400,459.07

The bill for injunction and relief is the outcome more directly of the orders of the commission dated on March 26th, 1909, ordering the company to place an agent at White City, and to build stations at Naranja and Viking. The company claims that the business of these points is not sufficient to warrant the employment of a regular agent or the construction of stations.—St. Augustine Record.

HOUSE WILL INSIST

WIDE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN TWO HOUSES AS TO DUTY

And Schedule Is Expected to Result in Bitter Contest Between the Diverging Interests.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—When the conferees on the tariff bill began work yesterday it was with the knowledge that the amendments to the lumber schedule, over which a contest was certain, would be reached before adjournment. The House members were expected to make a strong fight for "dollar lumber," which was defeated in the Senate.

In view of the fact that the lumber amendment will require a great deal of deliberation, it is likely that after the discussion has continued for a time, the whole subject will be put over until another day and the conferees will dispose of minor amendments.

Members of the Senate committee on finance are preparing a statement, replying to charges that Senate amendments to the tariff will result in increasing the cost of woolen and cotton clothing, shoes and other articles of common wear, as well as other necessities of life.

Will Show Changes.

The statement will show that the duty on shoes has been reduced and that there has not been a single change in the rates on woolen goods and that the rates on cotton have not been increased.

There will follow a list of about 500 decreases in rates from the Dingley duties and a list of about sixty or seventy-five increases. An effort will be made to show that most of the latter are not in reality increases of rates, but that they provide for the collection of the rates fixed by the Dingley law, which had been set aside by the misinterpretation of that law.

The recess was taken by the conferees at 2:10 p. m. for luncheon. The first reading of the bill for the consideration of amendments had proceeded about half way through the flax or linen schedule. Practically all of the disputed amendments were passed over. The cotton schedule was not taken up.

OWEN'S TIME FOR DEATH DRAWS NEAR

ONLY ONE MORE WEEK REMAINS FOR HIM HERE.

His Attorneys State They Have Done
All in Their Power for the Doomed Man.

Just one week more remains for R. H. Owen to live unless something happens within the next few days that will cause a change in his sentence.

Nothing further has been heard from Tallahassee in regard to the doomed man's fate and the officials there will take no action unless strong evidence is brought to bear why his sentence should not be carried out according to the finding of the jury.

Col. Chris. Matheson, one of the attorneys who has worked hard to save the man's life, states that they will forward another paper to the Governor regarding his condition, stating the facts as they now exist, and with this they feel that they have done all that could be done to save his life.

Owen is really not prepared to meet death, for while he states he has made his peace with God, he is about as rough as he was shortly after being confined and before he stood trial for the killing of the man at Newberry. At times he "curves like a sailor," and at other times he is busily engaged in reading his Bible, and it is according to the humor you strike him in whether he is civil or not. This has been one of the pleas of the ministers in endeavoring to have his sentence commuted, for Rev. Hay has tried hard to convince the man and save his soul.

All of the preparations were made prior to the reprieve and Sheriff Ramsey will have to go to no extra trouble now to follow the instructions of the law by hanging the man today week.

Owen's appetite has increased some again, and while he is still weak, he is somewhat stronger than he was a week since, when he was to have been hung. But he still states that he will be unable to stand upon the scaffold, and that in order to execute

The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and when the secretions were allowed to stand they deposited a sediment. My back ached intensely and was very lame and sore, making it hard for me to stoop or lift. I could not rest well and mornings upon arising I was tired and worn out. Quite a number of the stores closed and in all it was a "big day" for many of the citizens here.

Brick work has commenced on the new brick block of Mrs. Lois Tucker, which has been under way for the past six weeks, but has been greatly retarded owing to the weather conditions and the delay in securing the brick for the building.

About all of the material has now been hauled, however, and the contractor states that the weather seems to have abated, and Old Sol has put forth his appearance in sufficient quantity for him to order his force of bricklayers to pursue the work of building the walls.

The work was started in a small way about two weeks since, but was stopped owing to the weather. However, from this time on it will be rushed as fast as the workmen can place the brick and mortar together.

This building will contain five store-rooms and each of them have been spoken for long before the building was commenced. This section, which has always enjoyed a fine trade from the country districts, will now spread with greater vigor when this building is completed, for it will embrace from a fruit stand to a general mercantile business.

Isn't it worth while to try to find out whether this may not be true—today, tomorrow, or very soon?

A good deal of patriotic fervor is displayed about the Fourth of July, even as considerable thankfulness is expressed towards the end of November and any number of good resolutions made at the opening of every year, and all that is well. But what is most needed is a patriotism and a thankful spirit and good resolutions that shall continue the year through.

The press of the State generally has expressed the regret felt at the death at the early age of 33 of Dr. W. H. Powers of Ocala, a son-in-law of Frank Harris, the veteran editor of The Banner. A career which promised to be one of great usefulness and brilliancy was suddenly cut off. Dr. Powers was the son of the late Stephen Powers, formerly the agricultural editor of The Times-Union, whose place of usefulness to the agricultural and horticultural interests of Florida has never been adequately filled, and as the father's death was a loss to all Florida, so there is a feeling that in the death of the son the State has been bereaved of one who might, had he lived, have shed luster on it. To those who sorrow with a sense of personal bereavement The Times-Union offers its sympathy.

SIMON NEWCOMB.

To the average man of business the passing away of Simon Newcomb, the Government astronomer at Washington, may be a matter of only temporary note; but to the wide world of scientific research, which is more familiar with the fruitfulness of his career, he was easily the first of scientific men in the United States. Prof. Newcomb's achievements were best known as mathematical and astronomical. But the earlier part of his career as a scholar was largely devoted to the exposition of economics, in which, for incisive analysis and clear grouping of results, his writings are still second to none since the time of John Stuart Mill.

Since Newcomb wrote nearly thirty-five years ago on economic subjects he produced little toward placing economics upon a more scientific basis. But he was thoroughly aware of the fact that the progress of both accountancy and statistics had meanwhile furnished the instrumentalities by which economic phenomena could be measured and their tendencies ascertained within definite limits up to the present and within probable lines into the more or less distant future.

His last important utterance was made in an offhand address at Philadelphia, before the Economic Section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science four years ago. He then outlined what he deemed to be the scope of a preliminary inquiry necessary to give a more scientific character to economics. This plan involved a study of two fundamental movements, namely, the flow of commodities and the flow of funds, representing counter activities in the circulatory system of the economic organization. It is gratifying to notice that the work of the National Monetary Commission is to some extent at least apparently following out these lines of inquiry in its efforts to revise our currency and monetary systems.

Although Prof. Newcomb lived remote from the business world, he had that grasp of fundamental principles which enabled him to trace out the path along which material prosperity must move in obedience to natural law. In reviewing his career occasion may well be taken to remind not only the professional economist, but the business mind that the method and example of the late Simon Newcomb make of his career one of the healthiest products of our national life.

THE NEW ORE.

One of Andrew Carnegie's Early Ore Experiences.

Andrew Carnegie once stated that a short time after the starting of his first plant in Pittsburgh he had an odd experience with iron ore.

"I was offered some ore that seemed about the usual grade, so far as I was able to judge from appearances, at a reduced price," he said. "I bought several thousand tons, a big order for those days. The second day after we commenced to run it the foreman came to the office and told me the new ore was of no account, that it did not flow and that the furnaces were so choked they would have to be dumped unless some remedy was found. These furnaces were built to last two years, and to dump them at this time would mean so heavy a loss as to practically put me out of business. A young chemist had called on me a few weeks before, and, while I had not paid much attention to him, I had kept his card. It occurred to me that he might possibly be of some help, though I confess I did not then see what chemistry had to do with the iron business. But I sent for him, and he came at once. First he examined the new ore and then the old that we had been running without difficulty, and finally he looked at the furnaces. To avoid delay he made a little test of the two ores right there. I had told him when he arrived that I felt sure the new ore was worthless and admitted my mistake in buying it. Of course I did this as I did not want him to think I was ignorant of the business. You can imagine my surprise, then, when at the conclusion of his test he quietly informed us that the new ore was so good we did not know how to run it. The fact was that the new ore contained 20 per cent more iron than the old, and all that it was necessary to do was to add a proportionate increase of flux to bring about reduction."

Heat Conductors.

Some substances conduct heat more freely than others, silver among the metals being the best conductor, and as a unit of measurement is taken at 1,000. Compared with silver as a conductor, gold is 981, copper 845, zinc 641, tin 422, steel 397 and wrought iron 436. Glass, wood, gases, liquids and resinous substances are bad conductors. Water is such a poor conductor that if heat is applied to the top it will boil at the top, while the bottom will remain cold.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from rheumatism, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I can now say I am a well woman."

EMMA DRAPER.

Another Operation Avoided.

Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."—Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulence, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

FOLLOWED HER LEAD.

The Chinese Cook Knew Which Eggs Should Be Discarded.

"Chinese need to be taught to be more self-reliant," said the woman who employs a Chinese cook. "Yesterday I ordered my cook to make a pudding for dinner, stopping a minute to see if he followed my instructions, for I had taught him to make this particular pudding. He had seen me smell the eggs before putting them into a bowl, and he began by putting the first egg to his nose. He seemed on the right road, so I left the kitchen for a minute.

"Returning, I discovered that he had used five eggs instead of three, as I had taught him. Taking him to task for not following my instructions, he answered: 'Yes; three here (pointing to the bowl), two here (indicating where he had thrown the others). Same as you.'

"It dawned on me that when I had taught him to make the pudding I had found the second and third eggs that I had broken to be bad and had thrown both away. He had simply done what he had seen me do—after smelling the second and third egg he had thrown them away."—New York Sun.

Attraction.

Fruits fall to the earth because the earth attracts them. Bubbles in a cup of tea stand around the sides of the cup because the cup attracts them. The little bubbles rather than the large ones because the large bubble attracts the smaller ones. Why do the bubbles follow a teaspoon? Because the spoon attracts them. Why are the sides of a pond covered with leaves while the middle is clear? Because the shore attracts the leaves to itself.

They Changed.

A Vienna paper relates an anecdote of the painter Makart, who was sometimes as taciturn as Von Moltke. One evening at a dinner he sat for an hour next to the soprano Josephine Gallmeyer without volunteering a word. Finally she lost patience and exclaimed, "Well, dear master, suppose we change the subject."

A Millionaire's Baby

Attended by the highest-priced baby specialist could not be cured of stomach or bowel trouble any quicker or surer than your baby if you give it McGee's Baby Elixir. Cures diarrhoea, dysentery and all derangements of the stomach or bowels. Price 25 cents and 50 cents. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

FOREIGN POLICE.

Dress of the Patrolmen of London, Paris and Berlin.

London patrolmen carry no clubs. Attired in the models of the best behind is a dark uniform. The cuffs of their coats have vertical stripes blue and white, signifying rank and distinguished service. During the frequent showers and rains they wear little waterproof capes. Their silent regulation of street traffic by hand signal is a realization of perfection.

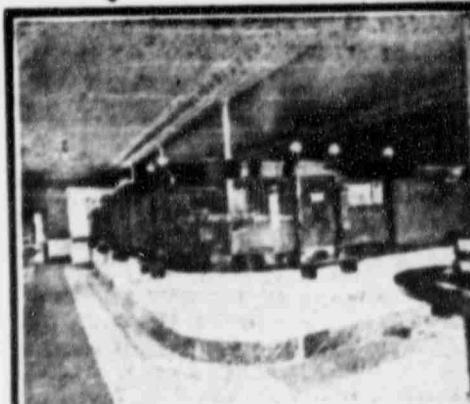

In Paris the ordinary patrolmen wear blue caps and coats and in summer white duck trousers. They carry short swords, rather as an emblem of authority, but in extreme danger use the flat side as a club. In a downpour of rain the Paris policeman hangs his cap on a hook in the back side of his belt and draws over his head the hood of a short blue cape of heavy cloth. This hooded cape is called a capuchin and in its longer form, reaching to the knees, is used by civilians as well in cold or rainy weather. Accordingly at such times the streets of Paris seem to be alive with cowled monks. The London plan for controlling vehicles is used on the Paris boulevards. The policemen detailed for such duty wear white gloves and signal with white clubs.

German policemen wear helmets and have a distinctly martial air.—Travel Magazine.

THE WITCHES' TREE.

Superstitions Regarding the Influence of the Elder.

Country people speak of the elder tree as "the witches' tree" and planted it near farm buildings and dairies to keep off witches. They also say that the roots should never come near a well, still less grow into it, or the water will be spoiled. Evelyn's opinion was also unfavorable. The diarist says: "I do by no means commend the scent of it, which is very noxious to the air."

"We learn from Biesus that a certain house in Spain, seated among many elder trees, diseased and killed nearly all its inhabitants, which, when at last they were grubbed up, became a very healthy and wholesome place."

Cattle scarcely touch the elder, and the mole is driven away by the scent. Carters often placed branches on their horses' heads to keep off flies. Nothing will grow well in the company of the elder, and when it has been removed and all its roots carefully grubbed up it is some few years before the ground becomes perfectly sweet and good for anything.

The berries, besides feeding the birds, make excellent country wine, delicious with soda water in summer or taken hot in winter. The wood is particularly good for skewers, and a curious red fungus grows on elder stumps. A species of elder in the Tyrol is covered with beautiful scarlet berries.—Selborne's Magazine.

Smart Electors.

At an open air political meeting in the north of England a man cried, "Hurrah for Jackson!" to which a bystander replied sarcastically, "Hurrah for a jackass!" "All right, my friend," exclaimed the first speaker. "You can hurrah for your candidate, and I'll do the same for mine!"

All electors are not so gifted, as the following experience of a canvasser in Devonshire clearly indicates:

"Whom are you voting for, my good fellow?" he asked.

"I votes for the lady."

"But there is no lady candidate standing."

"Well," replied Hodge, "Poll Early comes on my voting paper before the names of the two men, and I thought I'd vote for her. See!"—Chambers' Journal.

Nocturnal Tragedy.

It is a dark night. It is also a dark kitchen. The kind hearted man in his stocking feet is after a drink of water for his fretful youngster. He thinks he can find his way in the inky darkness. He is mistaken. He turns to the left instead of to the right and falls down cellar.

Another good man gone wrong.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Reformed Spelling.

A commercial traveler tells us of an interesting notice exhibited in the window of a small shop in the west of England. It ran:

OME GRONE UNE 6 A POTT.

To upholders of the new orthography this should be interesting. It refers to home grown honey and its price.—London News.

The Cause of Drafts.

Why is it that windows and doors are frequently ill fitting? There is nothing wrong with the wood itself, nor with the workmanship, as a rule, nor with the fit, at the outset at least, but the whole trouble is due to the wood being unseasoned, or, rather, only partially seasoned, at the time it is made up.—Timber.

Optimistic.

"Is Jones an optimist?" "Is he? He found a ticket entitling him to a chance in an automobile drawing the other day, and he is building a garage."—Boston Transcript.

Answered.

Bobby—What's the simple life, pa? Father—Doing your own work, my son. Bobby—And, what's the strenuous life? Father—Doing some other fellow's work. Now run along and play.

Reminders.

Mrs.—He said I reminded him of a Greek goddess. Mr.—Huh! Mrs.—What do I remind you of? Mr.—Of every darned thing I overlook that you ask me to do.—Cleveland Leader.

The temple of fame stands upon the grave. The flame that burns upon its altar is kindled from the ashes of dead men.

The Right Word.

"Why do you speak of him as a finished artist?"

"Because he told me he was utterly discouraged and was going to quit the profession. If that doesn't show that he's finished I don't know what does."—Chicago Post.

The Plain Part of It.

"Did the young man they caught in fraudulent transactions peculate very much?"

"I done about that, but he stole a lot."—Baltimore American.

Venetian Coffee Houses.

The first cup of coffee was drunk in Europe at Venice toward the end of the sixteenth century. The Venetian chronicler Morosini in his records of the events in the year 1585 mentions the beverage called "cavée" drunk by the Turks and noted for its anti-soporific qualities. In the year 1591 a Venetian doctor introduced the berries from Egypt, taught his countrymen how to crush them and brew the beverage, and the use of coffee soon became general—so much so, in fact, that Venice was full of coffee houses where the people idled away their days drinking the aromatic beverage. A peculiarity of the Venetian coffee houses was that their patrons did not pay for each cup of coffee they drank, but settled their bills for all the coffee consumed at the end of each year. The regular price of a cup of coffee was 5 soldi, about 2½ cents, and in some of the old cafes of Venice today the same price is still charged.—New York Sun.

Awkward Compliment.

There is such a thing as being too persistently complimentary. A candid and well meaning professor who had witnessed the performance of a little play in a private house in which his hostess had taken the leading part met the lady as she came from behind the curtain.

"Madam," he said, rushing up to her, "you played excellently. That part fits you to perfection."

"Oh, no, professor," said the lady modestly. "A young and pretty woman is needed for that part."

"But, madam," persisted the professor, "you have positively proved the contrary!"—Pearson's Weekly.

The Best Part of the Speech.

Young Jones had never heard his papa speak in public, and it was thought time to take him to hear his father deliver a lecture. During the lecture a stray dog which ventured upon the platform was disposed of as peacefully as possible. On the way home Jones was asked how he liked his father's lecture and gave the answer, "It was all right, papa, but I liked the part where you put the dog out the best."—Tribune.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 3

How to Write Retail Advertising Copy

By Herbert Kaufman.

A skilled layer of mosaics works with small fragments of stone—they fit into more places than the larger chunks.

The skilled advertiser works with small words—they fit into more minds than big phrases.

The simpler the language the greater certainty that it will be understood by the least intelligent reader.

The construction engineer plans his roadbed where there is a minimum of grade—he works along the lines of least resistance.

The advertisement which runs into mountainous style is badly surveyed—all minds are not built for high level thinking.

Advertising must be simple. When it is tricked out with the jewelry and silks of literary expression it looks as much out of place as a ball dress at the breakfast table!

The buying public is only interested in facts. People read advertisements to find out what you have to sell.

The advertiser who can fire the most facts in the shortest time gets the most returns. Blank cartridges make noise but they do not hit—blank talk, however clever, is only wasted space.

You force your salesmen to keep to solid facts—you don't allow them to sell muslin with quotations from Omar or trousers with excerpts from Marie Corelli. You must not tolerate in your printed selling talk anything that you are not willing to countenance in personal salesmanship.

Cut out clever phrases if they are inserted to the sacrifice of clear explanations—write copy as you talk. Only be more brief. Publicity is costlier than conversation—ranging in price downward from $6.00 a line, talk is not cheap but the most expensive commodity in the world.

Sketch in your ad to the stenographer. Then you will be so busy "saying it" that you will not have time to bother about the gewgaws of writing. Afterwards take the type-written manuscript and cut out every word and every line that can be erased without omitting an important detail. What remains in the end is all that really counted in the beginning.

Cultivate brevity and simplicity. "Savon Francais" may look smarter, but more people will understand "French Soap." Sir Isaac Newton's explanation of gravitation covers six pages, but the schoolboy's terse and homely "What goes up must come down" clinches the whole thing in six words.

(Copyright, 1908, by Tribune Company, Chicago.)

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

GAINESVILLE,

University City.

Gainesville is conceded to be the most enterprising as well as the most beautiful city in the interior of Florida. It is located in the very center of the State, half way between the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, surrounded by lands of such fertility as to be capable of producing a great variety of crops, in the heart of the truck-growing, phosphate and naval stores belt. She has the best educational advantages in the State, good churches, with edifices which are superior to any town of its size in Florida, with large and consistent congregations, and a climate which cannot be excelled for health and pleasure. All these natural advantages, combined with a progressive and enterprising cosmopolitan citizenship, are sure to make a big city.

There are many natural attractions in close proximity to the city, some of which are Alachua Sink, Paine's Prairie, the Devil's Mill Hopper, Warren's Cave, and Lake Newnan, all of which are reached by private conveyance.

Spring Park Stock Farm, the largest and finest live stock farm in the State, is only eight miles west of the city and is reached by a good hard road, affording a most pleasant drive.

The farmers of Alachua county, of which Gainesville is the county seat, "live at home and board at the same place." The temperature is very uniform, scarcely ever reaching the nineties in summer or the twenties in winter. The population of Gainesville is about eight thousand, representing nearly every nationality on the face of the earth, and strangers always meet with a hearty welcome.

The University of Florida for young men and the National Agricultural Experiment Station are located within the corporate limits of the city. In fact, Gainesville has so many things that we must be pardoned if we omit a few of them in the following enumeration of what
